Laval Again Asks Workers Go to Reich

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(CP)—Pierre Laval, broadcasting over the Vichy radio, tonight urged renewed the appeal he made last June 21 for French workers to go to work in German factories.

The chief of government told his countrymen that Germany had issued decrees which "enable her to mobilize labor in all countries she has occupied."

And, he added, ominously, "the Germans have suffered heavy losses."

FORCE THREATENED

He would be free to tell the workers, to leave France of their free will instead of being forced to do so.

Emphasizing that France was in a "desperate situation," Laval said that Frenchmen must "share the burden of the German demands."

He asserted that Germany had released 600,000 prisoners.

This figure, approximately one-third of the original total of French prisoners captured by the Germans, is larger than any previously made public.

ASSURES "SALVATION"

Addressing the nation which recently has been seeking with unrest over his policy of supplying French labor for Germany's war factories, Laval declared that "the element which was responsible for our misfortunes" had become now "the most obstinate adversaries" of his policy.

He argued his plan was the only one which "can assure the salvation of our country and which allows me to obtain the best price possible."

When he appealed months ago to Frenchmen to go to Germany, he said, "I did not worry whether my policy would hurt the feelings of some of you. . . I only thought of the higher interest of our country."

CANNOT BE PASSIVE
"France cannot remain passive and indifferent before the immensity of the sacrifices," Germany is making, Laval declared.

"I am resolved not to tolerate any resistance on the part of the workers or employers," he said. Laval then declared that Germany made an agreement with Germany by which French workers may join German subsidiaries who are prisoners in Germany and work there.

Canada Total $52,614,000

$513,750 Subscribed Here

First Day of Victory Loan

More than half a million dollars worth of Third Victory Loan bonds were purchased here Monday in the first day of the campaign.

Spurred on by a steady influx of women customers who took advantage of Ladies' Day and further inspired by a $200,000 purchase from the Northwestern University, the campaign workers turned in gratifying results at the end of the first day.

Figures compiled late Monday night were 1,150 applications for the first day of the campaign. This total constitutes 34 per cent of the first day's quota of $4,664,000.

Alberta's total for the first day amounted to $1,553,000, or 5.33 per cent of the province's quota of $29,100,000.

With only 25 of the 61 rural units of northern Alberta reporting partial returns of the first day's canvass, the northern Alberta figure, aside from Edmonton, stood at $30,775.

Reports to headquarters from practically all units indicate that the rural canvass will be slow for some while yet, but harvesting has not been completed in most areas.

Farmers are still in the fields threshing, and even approaching them for a bond purchase, let alone making a sale, is a task which is not being completed in most areas.

During the day there were 1,358 pictures taken of women and children who were escorted to bond counters to purchase a bond and thereby becoming eligible to win one of the 12,480 bonds paid for.

Today's War Moves

By Louis F. KEEMLE

German concern over the Axis position in Africa is manifest in the propaganda hubbalo over the possibility of an Allied attack on Dakar, French West Africa, and the incessant attacks on the island fortress of Malta, opposite Libya.

The assault on Malta, which is a deadly menace to the Axis supply line to Libya and Egypt, is an almost certain indication of one of two things.

The first would be that Berlin sees the opportunity to take Alexandria and Suez and open a back door to the Middle East rapidly slipping away, and is planning to do so.

Attacks At Stalingrad

By The Canadian Press

German dive bombers and fighters resumed a full-scale assault on Stalingrad today after cold rains had driven them from the skies in a short foray of winter, but Red army headquarters declared the Russians still held their lines unbroken for the last 24 hours.

As the storm subsided, the German Transcaucasus News Agency asserted that only "a few square kilometers" of Stalingrad was left in Soviet hands.

Soviet reports said supplies and troop reinforcements continued to reach defenders of the ruined Volga city and that German long-range guns were shelling the river in an attempt to interrupt the crossings.

SAVAGE ATTACK

Despite the temporary relief afforded by autumnal storms, which forced the gigantic battle back to the first Great War tactics of artillery barrage and infantry assault, the Red army was under savage attack by tanked German shock troops.

Germany's 37th day of siege, German field headquarters asserted that Nazi troops had occupied another block of houses in the northern suburbs and said mopping-up operations "in the grounds of the factory 'Red baricade'" were continuing.

Govt. House Auction Opens On Wednesday

Three-day public auction sale of furnishings in Government House will open at 1 p.m. Wednesday. It was reported Tuesday by George A. Clark, director of purchases for the provincial government, that the sale will continue Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, starting at 1 p.m. each day.

Furnishings are being sold owing to the fact the government has vacated North West House and is now in residence on Government House for dormitory purposes for the duration of the war.

OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Every morning during the sale the building will be open for inspection by prospective purchasers. In this connection it was explained that while the public had been given an opportunity to see the furnishings during the last few days of the inspection tour, many prospective buyers had not had a chance to inspect pieces closely. They will be given this opportunity every morning during the sale.

It was also reported that many pieces that have been on display in downtown department stores and that are up for sale have been brought to Government House and may be seen in their original setting during the auction.

Representative persons inspected the building last Saturday, and it is expected that a large number of these will attend the auction. It is likely that people living in the city and outside Canada, or their representatives, will bid on the furnishings, as the furniture has been received from many parts of the country.

J. H. Rees will be the auctioneer, and all sales will be made on a strictly cash basis.

Many opposition members of the Alberta legislature have taken the stand that the proposal by the M.L.A.s to increase the income tax is a question that should properly be dealt with at the forthcoming session of the legislature. This information was obtained from spokesmen for the opposition Tuesday.

In a letter mailed to all private members of the legislature this week, Mr. Roper urged members to support the income tax increase. He stated that the increase in the cost of living warranted the increase.

PREMIER'S STAND
Replying to a letter that he received from Mr. Roper, a short time ago, Premier William Abernethy stated that the proposal to increase the income tax was a question that should be dealt with at the legislature at its next session. The session will likely open in about November.

"Any increase in allowances paid to members of the legislature issued by the government," an opposition spokesman said Tuesday, "is a question of the propriety of the legislature the question of the propriety of the legislature."

Mr. Roper, however, stated that the increase in the cost of living warranted the increase in the cost of living.

Returns Home

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP)—Lt. Robert Wendell (Buck) McNeil, D.F.C., one of the defending Canadian forces in the 14 months' operation flying, reached Ottawa yesterday on his way home from the battle of the North Battlefist, Sask. home.

The 25-year-old son of a railway worker in the city of Regina was on the front; shot down and probably destroyed or damaged in the battle. He was shot down himself once, been rescued by a Canadian C-47. The Cross and became flight commander of the 424th Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Force in England. With the 424th squadron he took a prominent part in the battle of the North Battlefist.

With blood streaming from wounds over the heart, David was taken to the home of a neighbor for help.

FIRE AT THEM

Before the police arrived, Chute and the other three men, Brackenbury and Royden Cathers — drove a car to the home of a neighbor to have a ploughshare thrown at them. They stepped from the car unharmed and the ploughshare hit the car. Lobb fired at them with his shotgun and the car was destroyed. Brackenbury and Brackenbury suffered a tooth each wound, but Cathers, a school teacher, was not hurt. Cathers drove the two men to the hospital and the other three were taken to hospital. The condition of the three men is not known.

From July until February of 1942 he served with an R.C.A.F. squadron in Britain, and then was chosen to go to hard-pressed Malta with an R.A.F. squadron. He was already a seasoned veteran, having taken part in many sweeps and having been forced to bail out into the Channel after being shot down by an ME109.

Estimates of Japanese plane losses at Midway ran at least 200. Competent observers here say Allied planes and gunners have shot down more than that number of Japanese aircraft in the Solomons.

PILE BRIDGE
The temporary pile bridge across the Peace River at Taylor's Crossing is nearing completion. When completed this bridge will alleviate the congested traffic at the crossing caused by the heavy traffic of supplies from Dawson Creek to Fort John and the Alaska Highway.

According to reports received from the Harvey Construction Company, fossils of all descriptions are being dug up at the rock quarry being used on the Alaska Highway construction. One very fine complete head of a dinosaur has been found.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. F. Hall recently in honor of Miss B. Kitchen on the eve of her marriage. Mrs. H. Gilles, Mrs. T. D. Proctor and Mrs. Wade were hostesses.

Rector, Wife Honor Guests Farewell Meet

POUCE COUPE—The congregations of Pouce Coupe, Kilkerran and Dawson Creek Anglican churches gathered in the St. Mark's church hall recently to say farewell to their rector and his wife, Canon and Mrs. T. D. Proctor, who are leaving this week for their new parish in the Kootenay Valley. The change was necessitated through the ill health of Canon Proctor, who has done considerable work in establishing new churches throughout the Peace River Block.

Mrs. W. Wilford of Kilkerran presented both Canon and Mrs. Proctor with gifts from the congregations. The Rev. and Mrs. H. Hinchcliffe is expected to arrive from Terrace, B.C., to fill the vacancy.

A wedding of interest to the entire Peace River country was solemnized by Canon Proctor Saturday, when Beatrice Kitchen, youngest daughter of C. H. Kitchen, proprietor of the Peace River Block News, became the bride of Ray Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. following to assist: Names and addresses, Robert Speedie and J. Whyte, purchasers, Mrs. M. Conaty and Mr. Clarke, paper and stickers, A. White, milling, Charles Lindsay and John Holsworth, decorations, W. H. Stringer and L. B. Walker.

Mrs. R. Patrick has returned from a visit to Stettler. . . . Miss Marjorie Walker has returned to Edmonton after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Walker. . . . Mrs. J. May and daughter Thelma, formerly of Elk Point, have joined Mr. May, who has taken over a business at Sylvan Lake. . . . W. E. Payne, R.C. Red Deer, was the guest speaker at a Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday.

Just What Is Doing Your Share?

You are probably working long hours at a difficult job . . . . You are maintaining a home and family . . . . You bought a Victory Bond last time . . . . And you are buying War Savings Certificates steadily . . . . You are even giving up a lot of what little leisure time you have to some form or other of war work . . . . And therefore you feel you are doing your share!

But just what is our individual share at this time when all that we hold dear is threatened with obliteration? Does the Sailor who sinks to a watery grave in the North Atlantic do his share? Does the Soldier whose shattered body slumps on the barbed wire of an enemy barrier do his share?

Does the young Airman shot down in flames do his share? Duty has not yet been placed upon the list of national commodities! What is our share? The most we CAN do is the least we SHOULD do!

5,000 Servicemen Give Memorable Testimony Canadian Fighting Power

Abundant corroboration of the fact that the Canadian Army is a "dagger pointed at the heart of Berlin," and "nothing matters but victory," was given when 5,000 men and women of the armed services marched through city streets Monday evening in fitting tribute to the inauguration of the

I Saw Today

Full of 5,000 women and children witnessed the spectacle, equalled only on infrequent occasions in this city and surpassed in splendor only by the visit of their king, King George and Queen Elizabeth on June 2, 1929. The crowd was exceeded only by the throngs that greeted their Majesties.

A possible point of vantage along the route of the march was occupied by enthusiastic residents. Howard Crossman, taking things over the thronged path, held to police officers, who were projecting the march and when the fighting men and women passed, they surged far out into the streets.

Windows, tops of buildings, telegraph poles, and power lines, in short every conceivable nook, corner, and projection, proved strategic, held spectators.

Marching sometimes three-deep and sometimes six abreast, the stout-hearted men took about 4,000 steps to a given point.

The occasion on which 5,000 members of armed services have ever before been seen for so far between.

CHEERS GREET MARCHERS

Following the parade, the auxiliary units, and branches of the service as well as the "marched" readily, steadily, and in good order, they were given broad expanses of Jasper avenue and the city streets.

AND

Helen Coleman smiling at a friend at a popular Jasper avenue restaurant. Agnes Milne, formerly of this city and now of Winnipeg, renewing old friendships at the same establishment. Howard Crossman taking things over with a friend in the center of the city. Frank Holden, conversing with a friend at Jasper and 101 street.

Alaska Highway Proves

Revelation: Strategic Point, Attack, Defence

By H. R. HAMMOND

The vision of a chain of modern airports capable of accommodating the largest planes, and a broad highway carved out of the wilderness over which heavy trucks laden with men and materials would roll along its 1,600-mile length, is now a vivid reality.

I have just returned from a 1,500-mile aerial tour of Canada's great northwest and the territory of Alaska with Hon. James A. Mackinnon, minister of trade and commerce, and his party.

I saw at first hand the fruits of the labor of thousands of Canadians, and men from across the border in overcoming great obstacles in rapid time, and rushing through the work that means not only a vital part in the defence of the North American continent, but also makes possible the launching of a major offensive against Germany when the proper time comes.

With Mr. Mackinnon I was privileged to see the thousands of men at work on the various war projects that the sketches said would take years to finish.

I saw men and machines working at top speed along the Alaska Highway which snakes its way through heavy timber, around hundreds of blue water lakes, over hills and mountain ranges and through the work that means not only a vital part in the defence of the North American continent, but also makes possible the launching of a major offensive against Germany when the proper time comes.

Trades Council Backs Firemen's 3 Shift Scheme

Reaffirming its stand on the three platoon system for the city fire brigade, the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, at a meeting Monday night, unanimously passed a resolution supporting the Edmonton Firefighters' Union's request that the city council be authorized to submit to the electors at the November 12 election the three eight-hour shifts in the city fire department.

Spokesman for the Firefighters' Union said that the request was being made to the city council for a resolution to have the necessary charter amendment passed so that the three eight-hour shifts can be put into operation at the war's conclusion.

PROCEEDINGS

The speaker said that this plan would materially assist in the city's rehabilitation contribution in providing work for men being demobilized from the fighting services.

Secretary Alf Smith pointed out that the three-platoon system was an accepted fact by the city commissioners and city council immediately prior to the outbreak of war, but was suspended at that time because it was considered that the "getting on with the war" was the most important task facing the city and the nation.

He said that the Trades Council, at that time, vigorously supported the firemen's union, and would continue that support now.

He added that the measure should receive considerable approval on its rehabilitation possibilities.
